

College of Medicine

The college's enrollment percentage for Black or African American students is double the national average

In 2020, the College of Medicine earned the Health Professions HEED Award for the fourth consecutive year

The college consists of 9 campuses and programs throughout the state of Florida

The Florida State University College of Medicine educates and develops exemplary physicians who practice patient-centered health care, discover and advance knowledge and are responsive to community needs—especially through service to elder, rural, minority and underserved populations.

The college achieves this mission by educating students who are prepared to pursue professional careers that address culturally-diverse health care needs, developing and refining knowledge for nursing education and practice that supports improving health care access and outcomes of care, and building healthier communities in collaboration with professional and community health care providers.
