

College of Business

Even as one of the nation's youngest business schools, the Florida State University College of Business has built a distinguished reputation for excellence that has helped it become one of the largest and consistently ranks as a top business school by U.S. News & World Report.

Our acclaimed faculty members continue to be recognized for research productivity and relevance and often serve as visiting professors and lecturers at other prestigious institutions. Well-known for the individual attention the college can provide its diverse student body, our faculty members place value on identifying and fostering student leadership, one-on-one instruction to enhance classroom learning and open communication lines between students and instructors.

In addition to a rigorous curriculum and strong classroom experience, the college provides students with opportunities outside the traditional classroom setting through student and professional organizations, corporate trips, competitions and industry-specific career fairs. Students also have the option of earning professional designations while still enrolled.

Dr. William T. Hold/The National Alliance Program in Risk Management and Insurance is ranked No. 5 among public and private universities

The college's Undergraduate Program is No. 28 among public institutions according to U.S. News & World Report "Best Colleges" 2021

Online Graduate Business Program is No. 9 among public institutions according to U.S. News & World Report "Best Graduate Business Programs" 2021
